PLANET PROTECTORS IN MOTION: YARA'S ECO DEVOTION. PLASTIC'S PAST, GREEN WILL LAST!

In a heartfelt tribute to World Environment Day 2025, the Grade 3 Homeroom students of Yara International School orchestrated a thought-provoking and inspiring morning assembly on 15th June 2025. The programme commenced with a soul-stirring recitation from the Holy Qur'an, followed by a Hadith and its translation—anchoring the gathering in spiritual wisdom and emphasizing the divine responsibility we hold as stewards of the Earth.

A compelling speech by the young learners underlined the urgent need to safeguard our natural resources, resonating with this year's Environmental Day theme: "Beat Plastic Pollution." The message was further reinforced through a collective environmental pledge, affirming our commitment to sustainable living and mindful action.

The assembly concluded on a high note with a spirited song and dance, echoing themes of unity, respect, and reverence for nature.

In every word spoken, in every footstep danced, the message was clear: Restoring the planet begins with restoring our mindset. Small hands may hold great power—and today, our students proved just that.

Together, let us choose to refuse, reduce, and rethink plastic—for a cleaner Earth and a future free from pollution.

Laughter, camaraderie, and the aroma of delicious homemade dishes filled the air as students shared food that reflected their diverse cultures, deepening the bonds of friendship and unity.

A special treat—the Kudu Burger Party—added to the excitement. With tasty burgers and delightful toys gifted by Kudu, our young learners were all smiles, enjoying every moment of the celebration.

More than just a party, the event marked a meaningful pause to honor the students' efforts, growth, and resilience throughout the term. As we cherish these joyful memories, we move forward with fresh energy and hope.
